FOUNDATION COURSE END SEMESTER EXAMINATION FOR SUPPLEMENTARY CANDIDATES

All students studying in undergraduate programmes (except B.Voc.) must complete three foundation courses during their three year programme. This is applicable to all previous batches including the 2020 batch (This is NOT applicable to the 2021- NEP batch of students). Students are advised to check their previous semester marks cards and make note of the incomplete foundation courses.

Category	Procedure to be followed
Student has not attended the foundation course classes in the previous semesters (either offline classes or online recorded videos), was thereby ineligible to take up the exam and has been marked fail in the marks card.	Student must register for the foundation course classes and examination when the notification is out.
Student had attended the foundation course classes in the past but did not attempt the examination or attempted the examination and failed to score the minimum pass marks and has been marked fail in the marks card.	Student must register only for the foundation course examination when the notification is out.

IMPORTANT DATES AND INFORMATION

- The notification for registration of Supplementary foundation course classes and examination will be posted on the college website on Monday, 2nd May 2022.
- Students will need to complete the registration as given in the notification by paying the required fees by Saturday, 14th May 2022.
- Students who have pending foundation courses in any of the semesters – II, III, IV, V or VI semester may apply at that time. If a student has more than one incomplete foundation course, he/she may apply for all those courses.
- The examination will be held towards the end of the academic year 2021-22. The time table and other details for the supplementary foundation course exams will be notified at a later date.
